Prirssung, November 12.—Congressman Boyle, though very seriously hurt in the wreck near Connellsyille this morning, will probably recover. He was taken to his home at Uniontown.

O. VanMoter of this city, by heroic action, saved the car from taking fire, and perhaps some passengers from and perhaps some passengers from death. When the train jumped the track he grabbed the stove with a death like grip and held on until the car stopped at the foot of the embankment, and then let go to find the flesh burnt off both hands and arms.

Burial of McCullough.

PHILADELPHIA, November 12 .- A guard of honor, composed of members of the Philadelphia section of the Benevolent Order of Elks, watched over the remains of John McCullough during the night. This morning the doors of St. George's Hall, giving entrance to the spare room in which the body lay, were thrown open, and the public admitted. It is estimated that nearly 8,000 people looked upon the features of the dead actor, and fully 12,000 failed to gain admittance. It was after 11 o'clock when the solemn services began. Upon the conclusion of the exercises at the hall, the remains were given in charge of the Philadelphia sections of Elks, who in conjunction with their brethren from New York, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities, escorted them to Monument Cemetery, where after performing the impressive rites of the order, the remains were consigned to a vault, where they will rest for the present.

The Telephone Troubles.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 12.—In the telephone cases before A Frightful Disaster on the the Secretary of the Interior this morning, Mr. Storrow continned the presentation of the case for the Bell Company. He read a letter written fous by Prof. Bell to his parents from Salem, Mass., in March, 1875, containing a report of the telephonic tests made by himself and Prof. Henry. He then wrote that Prof. Henry advised him to proceed and try to work out the idea for himself. Prof. Bell explained that he did not have the necessary knowledge ot electricity. Prof. Henry's answer was "get it." He was encouraged and upheld in his investigations by these words, and in one year secured his patent. Mr. Storrow read the complaint in the Dowd case to show that it was a fair test of the merits of peal from the derion touching the affidavits made by experts, to the effect that Reiss' instrumens had been in operation in their hands. Mr. Storrow said they had introduced in those instruments a mechanical contrivance in the Bell instruments, for the express purpose of producing the effect produced by Bell, and that they obtained those successful results, not by carrying out the effects aimed at and described by Reiss, but by avoiding those very effects.

I had heard of the wonderful curer of Swift's Specific, and resolved to try it. L commenced taking it in April, 1884, My general health was much leaproved, yet the cancer which was in my breast continued to grow slowly but sore; the bunch grew and became quite heavy. I felt that I must et her havelt cut or die. But it commenced disabarging quantities of aimost black thick blood. It continued healing around the edges until February, when it was entirely healed up and well.
